Jorvik Viking Centre

Read the text and answer questions on the next page!

The Vikings originated from Scandinavia and were sea-borne raiders. They were fishermen and farmers as well as strong warriors.

The Viking age was between 800 and 1050AD. They travelled as far as Ireland, Byzantium (Istanbul in Turkey), New Foundland and Greenland.

York (or Jorvik as they called it!) became an important manufacturing town during Viking times.

The Jorvik Viking Centre is on a street called Coppergate. It translates as 'street of cup makers' in Viking language (Norse). Knives, pieces of leather and cups have been found there.
